5. PRESENTATIONS:

(a) Nanaimo Youth Poet Laureate – Kailey DeFehr

Kailey DeFehr spoke regarding her experiences and achievements as Nanaimo's first Youth Poet Laureate. Highlights included poetry presentations at high schools and events and a high school poetry contest. She recently set up a poetry station at a Nanaimo Aboriginal Centre event. She collected sticky notes written by attendees about what it means to be a youth in Nanaimo, and she will be writing a poem that encompasses these responses to be read to the Minister of Child and Family Development in August. Upcoming projects she is considering before the end of her term in January 2019 are combining visual art and poetry (possibly in a mural) and/or painting poems on concrete outside the library downtown in paint that only appears on rainy days.

Kailey DeFehr read her original poem entitled "Soul Hydration" to the Nanaimo Youth Advisory Council members.

6. REPORTS:

The UBCM Conference administration has not yet advised if the Nanaimo Youth Advisory Council's application to participate was accepted. They will confirm after 2018-JUL-20, and then the Nanaimo Youth Advisory Council will make the final decision of whether to attend or not. The conference fees will be ascertained at that time, also, and an accurate budget will be determined.
