6. REPORTS:

a. GOVERNANCE AND MANAGEMENT EXCELLENCE:

(a) Political Signage Regulations

Introduced by Sheila Gurrie, Director, Legislative Services.

Presentation:

1. Karen Robertson, Deputy City Clerk, provided the Committee with a PowerPoint presentation. Highlights included:
 - Reviewed the current regulations regarding election signage in the City of Nanaimo (the City)
 - Changes to current bylaws could include restricting signage by location or number of sign allowed per candidate
 - Current signage is regulated through:
 - “Sign Bylaw 1987 No. 2850” (public property)

- “Traffic and Highways Regulation Bylaw 1993 No. 5000” (public property)
- Parks, Recreation and Culture Regulation Bylaw 2008 No. 7073” (public property)
- Provincial Policy T-03/18 – Highway Rights of Way
- Current regulations are inconsistent with no clear date regarding the removal of political signs
- Local governments do have the ability to regulate signage but freedom of expression rights under the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms must be taken into consideration when setting limits
- Staff looked at other municipalities in BC where sign regulations have been put in place and found a variety of approaches including full prohibition on signage on public property, signs only permitted in certain locations and/or limiting the amount of signs per candidate
- Regulating the location or number of signs may be acceptable under environmental considerations as it would limit the amount of materials used such as wood, plastic and metal
- Any regulations imposed by the City would not apply to private property or highway rights of way which includes some of the busiest most popular intersections for installing election signage
- City Staff would like to simplify and add clarity to political signage by creating a new bylaw which will ensure consistency with the Provincial policy

Committee discussion took place. Highlights included:

- Complaints regarding election signage during campaign periods from members of the public
- Limiting the number of signs and locations throughout the City due to environmental concerns
- Signage ban on all public property
- Designating sign locations and limiting signage to one per property
- Restricting the distance between two signs from the same candidate

Karen Robertson, Deputy City Clerk, advised the Committee that Council does not have jurisdiction over highway rights of way.

Sheila Gurrie, Director, Legislative Services, advised the Committee that there are potential legal issues with banning political signage on all public property as it may conflict with the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms.

It was moved and seconded that the Governance and Priorities Committee recommend that Council direct staff to draft amendments to “Sign Bylaw 1987 No. 2850” and “Traffic and Highways Regulation Bylaw 1993 No. 5000” to remove references to political signage and incorporate the regulations into a single comprehensive Political Signage Bylaw. The motion carried unanimously.

Committee discussion took place. Highlights included:

- Adding strict regulations around election procedures will require more staff and volunteer time for people working for each campaign
- Ministry guidelines apply to the highway rights of way and difficulty enforcing the removal of signs the day after the election

Sheila Gurrie, Director, Legislative Services advised the Committee that the City currently allows for sign removal to occur within 30 days after election day.

It was moved and seconded that the Governance and Priorities Committee recommend that Council include the following provision within the new Political Signage Bylaw:

“Election/political signage, as authorized by the Corporate Officer, may be placed on public or private property 30 days prior to an election or referendum and must be removed by the next working day following the electoral event.”

The motion carried.

Opposed: Mayor Krog, Councillors Maartman, Thorpe

Committee discussion took place. Highlights included:

- Adding environmental requirements to political signage such materials used must be recycled or repurposed
- The City’s ability to regulate the type of materials to ensure signs can be recycled or reused

Bill Sims, General Manager, Engineering and Public Works, advised the Committee that locating a recycling centre that takes the plastic type material used may be difficult and the Staff time involved to collect and package the signs would be significant.

It was moved and seconded that the Governance and Priorities Committee recommend that Council direct Staff to retain the status quo of not limiting the number of political signs per candidate. The motion carried.

Opposed: Councillor Geselbracht

Councillor Armstrong disconnected from the meeting at 2:01 p.m.

The 1500 survey responses have not been compiled; however; based on results so far the community members would like to see a thriving downtown that is a destination for tourists and residents.

Committee discussion took place. Highlights included:
