Details of the Presentation: Jason Wolfe, Director Energy Solutions will provide an update on renewable gas and FortisBC's pathway to 2050: using an existing system to deliver low carbon energy to meet both demand AND shared climate objectives. For over a decade, FortisBC has been investing in the innovation and delivery of Renewable Natural Gas; carbon neutral energy that can be created from waste water treatment, biomass, landfill, organic and agricultural waste from communities and regions like Nanaimo. FortisBC safely and reliably delivers the most energy to British Columbians and continues to demonstrate commitment to innovation and GHG reduction in the energy delivered. Working together, FortisBC and the City of Nanaimo can promote and implement the most efficient and cost effective use of energy, and explore opportunities to make and deliver low carbon energy locally - supporting local economies, sustainability, resilience, independence and climate action.
