The letter from the city, received on Nov 23, 2023, requested Inderjit to submit a Development Permit or Building Permit by Jan 23, 2024. Inderjit's mother's health suddenly deteriorated, leading to her hospitalization. After being by her side for two weeks, she passed away. Following the completion of the funeral, Inderjit immediately reached out to three architect firms. Unfortunately, they were all too busy and could only review his file after the holidays. On Dec 19, Inderjit came to the city office, met with Steve and requested an extension. It wasn't until Jan 12 that he received the first proposal, indicating that due to a backlog, it would be another 6-8 weeks before they could start his project. The other two were still catching up on their workload. He emailed Jackie and Steve the extension request on same day. Now, he found Rasila, who has been in touch with the city's planning department and is actively preparing the application. He will greatly expediting the process. Given these circumstances, Inderjit kindly ask for the opportunity to be granted an extension instead place a registration of the notice on land title.
